World Friends' Club

By MARGARET JOHNSON CLIPPING FILE

World Friends' Club members may not have a corner on young Cleveland talent, but they have a sizable chunk.

Take Alys Adele Lapp, third-prize winner in the Printing on Fabric class at the Art Museum's current May Show. (Her prize-winning material, a charming stylized flower print with yellow predominating, captures the very essence of spring.)

Alys joined our club as an 11-year-old, in July, 1942. Her first two friends were Pearl Buckler of Canada and Annmarie Kantor of South Africa. In 1945 Alys received Marian Catanach of England as a third pen-pal, added Christiane Gautier and Renee Bani of France in 1947.

An alumna of Lincoln High, Alys is completing her course at Cleveland Institute of Art next month. After graduation, she hopes to work in design at a textile manufacturing company.

Incidentally, Alys listed her hobbies and interests in this order, back in 1942: Skating, art, swimming, reading, collecting records. Oh, well. A young lady has a right to change her mind.

Other World Friends' Club members who carried off honors in the May Show are: Joan Kempsmith, honorable mention in Oil Painting and Mural Decorative Painting; Mary Louise Bajak and Ruth Collins in Ceramic Sculpture.

Hats off to you all!
